IRA Pledges Retaliation

BELFAST (CP) — The Irish Republican Army denied today that it set the bombs that killed six persons and wounded more than 30 in a village near Londonderry Monday, but it vowed to retaliate for the British Army's occupation of Roman Catholic enclaves.

Officials of the IRA's Provisional Wing charged in Dublin that the three bombs that wrecked the main street of Claudy were planted by British troops to divert attention from their invasion of the long-barricaded "no-go" areas Monday.

Although the guerrillas put up almost no resistance to the invading troops Monday, "our men are still in town," IRA leader Barney McFadden told a meeting in Londonderry's Bogside.

"They will stay here and take a greater toll when the time and opportunity come," McFadden warned. "Everything is going according to plan."

"Wait until they are leaving the area, and they will see if it is so easy," said Bernadette Devlin, the young Catholic member of the British Parliament from Northern Ireland. "The day will come when those barricades will be built again, stone by stone, brick by brick."

The soldiers appeared preparing for a long stay in the Catholic ghettos. Temporary quarters were established in schools and some unoccupied houses. Construction of new bases was started.

There was great relief in British ministerial circles that the province-wide invasion of the no-go areas—involving some 15,000 of the 21,000 troops in Northern Ireland—had passed with only two civilians killed and two injured.

Nearly all the barricades surrounding both Catholic and Protestant no-go areas had been taken down.

The political success of the military manoeuvre greatly depends on the acceptance once more of troops and police in their midst by Catholic families in the enclaves.

Sources said the security forces will avoid residents. Only 24 persons were arrested in selective raids Monday and four were soon set free.

Gerry Fitt, a prominent moderate Catholic parliamentarian, cautioned political talks with British administrator William Whitelaw could be endangered if the army launched "a policy of repression."

Comparatively little violence was reported Monday night. A youth was shot and wounded in Belfast. Catholic women attacked an army patrol with knives and wounded one soldier in the hand. The army said its men were fired on three times in the Creggan district of Londonderry; the soldiers claimed they hit two of their assailants.

Big Caches Of Arms Seized

BELFAST (CP) — British troops seized large quantities of arms today in widespread raids that followed their invasion of guerrilla strongholds in Northern Ireland.

The army said the captured weapons were equivalent to the armory of three battalions of the Irish Republican Army. They said the seizure dealt a severe blow to the gunmen's firepower.

The weapons seized in Belfast and Londonderry included an anti-tank gun, a heavy machine-gun, 20 rifles, six shotguns and 3,000 rounds of ammunition.

The raiding parties also found 110 pounds of gelignite, 520 pounds of homemade explosives, 115 gallons of acid and other chemicals used to make bombs, plus grenades and detonators.

Security forces said a sub-machine-gun and several rifles had been captured in Protestant areas.

The army seized earlier more than half a ton of explosives, 50 firearms, and 7,500 rounds of ammunition after storming the IRA's barricaded strongholds in Belfast, Londonderry and other provincial towns Monday.

Hijackers, $1 Million Ransom Collected By Algerian Officials

ALGIERS (AP) — A U.S. airliner, taken over by hijackers who collected $1 million ransom, landed today in Algiers after a 5,000-mile flight from Boston.

American diplomatic officials said the Delta Air Lines DC-8 landed safely at Maison Blanche Airport and none aboard were hurt during the transatlantic flight.

Algerian security men took the 13 adults and three children aboard the plane into the airport for screening.

It was expected that the plane and crew would be allowed to return to the United States without delay.

Allan Davis, acting head of the American diplomatic mission in Algiers, was on hand when the airliner landed.

In a similar case two months ago, an American couple hijacked a Western Airlines Boeing 720 to Algiers after collecting a ransom of $500,000. The Algerian government seized the ransom money and returned it to the United States, but a decision on the two hijackers' request for political asylum in Algeria is still pending.

The FBI said three men from Detroit took over the Delta airliner Monday on a flight from Detroit to Miami. The hijackers, reported armed, were accompanied by two women and three children.

The hijackers let the 87 other passengers get off at Miami and took aboard a suitcase containing the $1 million ransom, which had been collected from Miami banks.

With a crew of eight, the DC-8 flew to Boston, loaded fuel and food and took aboard an international navigator. Then it flew to Algeria.

The eight passengers, all from Detroit, who remained on the plane, were identified by the FBI in Detroit as Larry Burgess, Jean McNair, Yvonne and Ayona McNair, both children; Joyce Tillerson, a child named Kenya; Tillerson, Melvin McNair, and Harry Singleton.

Burgess was listed on the Delta passenger list as Rev. L. Burgess.

A WHEELING-DEALING WHEEL

There is something new on the old midway today. It is being watched by an intent trio, as it gradually forms itself from a neatly packed row of pipes into a full-sized Ferris wheel. The self-building wheel rises from its parent truck almost without being touched by human hand. It is the only one of its kind in Canada, and this is its first appearance in Kelowna where it will be ready for action during the Regatta scene. (Courier Photo)

A Trying Day For Stanfield

BRAMPTON, Ont. (CP) — Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield spent a fairly difficult day on the pre-election campaign today Monday.

He had scrambled eggs and ham at a breakfast of party faithful in Alliston, Ont., enjoyed a salad lunch with more party members in Orangeville, Ont., and had a beef barbecue with about 500 Progressive Conservatives in Ontario Premier William Davis's home town of Brampton.

During Mr. Stanfield's 15-hour day he was also presented with a set of glasses during a tour of a Brampton glass factory. He discussed his party's position on marijuana with a couple of teenagers during a tour of a Brampton shopping centre and was made an honorary citizen of the town of Orangeville.

Also during the course of the day, which was the beginning of this third stumping tour of Ontario in a month, Mr. Stanfield heard himself described by party officials on at least four occasions as the next prime minister of Canada.

And Mr. Stanfield continually challenged Prime Minister Trudeau to name a date for the next federal election, expected in the fall.

"The next election will come when Mr. Trudeau has the courage to call it," the Opposition leader said on more than one occasion Monday.

He also assailed what he termed the government's lack of a winter program to combat unemployment and called the situation "disastrous."

EIGHT NAMES THERE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The search for a new Democratic vice-presidential candidate centres on eight men following Senator Thomas Eagleton's precedent-setting withdrawal from the ticket.

Unable to convince presidential candidate George McGovern that the issue of Eagleton's history as a psychiatric patient would go away, the Missouri senator stepped down Monday night and cleared the way for McGovern to look for a new running-mate in the November general election.

Senator Frank Church of Idaho, former Democratic national committee chairman Lawrence O'Brien and Senator Edmund Muskie of Maine head some speculators' lists of likely replacements for Eagleton, who became the first person in U.S. history to give up a major party's nomination for vice-president.

But Florida Gov. Reubin Askew, R., Sargent Shriver, former director of the Peace Corps, and McGovern's close Senate friends Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut and Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin also are major possibilities.

And in Atlanta, Georgia state Representative Julian Bond, a leader in the "Blacks for McGovern" campaign, quoted a high-placed McGovern aide as saying Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter is being considered to replace Eagleton.

Carter called the idea ridiculous.

Ribicoff and Nelson say they are too old to give up relatively secure Senate seats to serve as somebody else's vice-president. Askew has said he is not interested.

INDOCHINA Reds Attack Heavily

SAIGON (AP) — Communist forces made their heaviest shelling attack of the year against a United States installation today, pouring more than 70 rockets into the Bien Hoa Air Base 15 miles northeast of Saigon.

One American was killed, 15 wounded, and 13 others were injured while trying to take cover, the United States command said. The South Vietnamese said 17 Vietnamese were wounded.

U.S. command said the rockets damaged headquarters of a marine air group, a post exchange, warehouse, and did heavy damage to two A-4 attack bombers.

Runways were closed to clean away the debris, but operations resumed later.

Meanwhile, U.S. B-52 heavy bombers carried out 100 more strikes, and more than half of them were in the northern provinces of South Vietnam around Quang Tri City and Hue. A few of the bombers attacked in North Vietnam, just above the demilitarized zone.

South Vietnamese forces on the northern edges of Quang Tri City and on the western flanks of Hue 30 miles to the south came under heavy artillery and mortar bombardment, the Saigon command said.

Council Ponders Way To Reduce Traffic Noises

FISHING STORY WITH A BARK

SUDBURY, England (Reuters) — A 100-pound Alsatian dog went for a swim in a lake near here and became live bait for a hungry 15-pound fish that grabbed its leg and tried to pull it under.

The fish, a pike, was still clinging to the dog's leg when its owner pulled it from the water.

The pike finally let go, and the dog was taken away to have seven stitches in a deep leg wound.

Air Canada Alters Fares

MONTREAL (CP) — Air Canada today announced a revamping of its domestic fare structure with reductions on long-distance routes and increases on short-haul trips except those covered by a new excursion rate.

Yves Prat, board chairman of the airline, said the revision would reduce the price of air transportation over long distance domestic routes by more than 30 per cent, making it possible to fly round-trip Montreal to Vancouver on an excursion fare for as little as $183 compared with the current economy fare of $290.

The new fares have been submitted for approval to the Canadian transport commission and would be effective as of Oct. 1.

Under the proposed structure, the new economy return fare between Toronto and Vancouver would be $244, compared with the current fare of $266. The return excursion fare would be $171.

Purchase Of Decimeter Urged As Means To Snare Offenders

The city is going to look into the possibility of using a machine to crack down on traffic noise.

Ald. Terry Cyr presented the idea to council Monday after receiving information from Calgary city police on the effect of using a noise level indicator or decimeter to prosecute offenders, particularly those with loud or non-existent mufflers.

Ald Cyr said the machine had proved valuable in enforcing Calgary's anti-noise by-laws and that evidence provided by it was acceptable in court.

Following a series of radar checks on Pandosy Street by the RCMP, Sergeant A. V. Edwards of the Kelowna detachment, said most complaints in the area deal more with loud vehicles than speeders.

"At the present time," he said, "checks are being made of vehicles and motorcycles with loud mufflers in an attempt to remedy the situation. However, it is felt purchase of a decimeter would be very beneficial in this regard."

"In order to enforce the law," said Mayor Hilbert Roth, "we have to set some standards. Unless we lay down some specifics and set up a machine, providing it works, we'll have nothing to take to court."

Ald W. J. C. Kane, however, was somewhat skeptical of the idea. "What are the criteria? From what I know of this business, it's rather expensive and time-consuming. And it seems to me that most traffic complaints have to do with driving habits."

"It seems to me," said Ald. Richard Stewart, "that if we did have this machine and did get a conviction, it would go a long way towards curtailing this kind of thing."

The matter was referred to city staff for further investigation.

Basic price for a decimeter, as quoted by Calgary police, is $600 or $800 with attachments.

Ottawa Now Has Time To See If Cannabis Is A 'Passing Fad'

TORONTO (CP) — Gerald LeDain, chairman of the federal commission on the non-medical use of drugs, said Monday the federal government's decision to introduce legislation removing cannabis from the Narcotic Control Act will give Ottawa time to see whether its use is a "passing fad."

Mr. LeDain said he would not bet on any legislation being permanent.

The commission recommended possession and cultivation of cannabis—marijuana and hashish—for private use should be made legal.

"If marijuana use went like cigarettes or alcohol, you would have to say it required consideration," he said. "Some people say it may be a passing fad."

Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield, on tour of several southern Ontario communities, said his party's position was that possession of marijuana should not be made legal but simple possession should not carry a jail sentence.

He said his party also believes that persons caught possessing the drug should not have a criminal record.

AGREES WITH COURTS

A justice department official said the federal government's legislative changes on cannabis only reflected what was going on in the courts.

"This is not a very significant change," he said. "It won't produce anything different from what goes on now."

The Ontario Addiction Research Foundation said any move to lessen the legal consequences for a cannabis user is positive.

"It was a mistake in history that cannabis was placed in the Narcotic Control Act because it clearly doesn't belong in the same category with heroin," said a foundation spokesman.

Mood Tense, Quiet At Ste. Therese

STE. THERESE, Que. (CP) — Although the mood was tense, all was quiet at 16-year-old Andre Vassard's funeral here today. It was attended by about 200 persons while another 100 persons waited outside.

Six provincial police cruisers escorted the body to its burial place after the funeral.

Vassard was shot by a local policeman Friday night.

The funeral home was closed to the public at the request of the family.

Jury Says Butler Didn't Do It

A handsome butler who seduced him, was found not guilty of stealing three of her cheques and forging them to obtain more than $37,000 at London's Old Bailey criminal court. The male jury reached its verdict after Judge Edward Sutcliffe told them the butler's employer, 37-year-old Lady Peck, was not entirely to be relied upon in her evidence against the 33-year-old butler, Maurice O'Regan said he obtained his post with the Pecks in July, 1969, and by the end of that year intimacy had developed between himself and Lady Peck. Lady Peck denied the claim. Sutcliffe said in his summing-up that Lady Peck's husband, property magnate Sir Francis Peck, was 20 years older than his wife. He said that often Lady Peck and the butler were alone at night in the house. Lady Peck at first denied signing cheques but later admitted she had.

Ronald Draper, 37, a career civil servant, has been appointed director-general of the federal government's non-medical use of drugs directorate, Health Minister John Munro announced Monday in Ottawa. Mr. Draper, a native of Orillia, Ont., was director of special projects in the health and welfare department's Social Allowances and service branch. In his new post, Mr. Draper will be responsible for the department's program to control drug abuse.

Five girls who pranced nude near the official residence of Prime Minister Heath in London Saturday were fined $58 each in a London court Monday. The girls, who had been publicizing a rock festival, pleaded guilty to using insulting behavior with intent to provoke a breach of the peace. A police inspector said the girls jumped out of a bus at the foot of Downing Street and began pushing leaflets about the festival into the hands of passers-by. He said the girls were nude except for some leaflets stuck on their bodies, but that these did not conceal "any vital parts of their anatomy."

Mr. Smith said higher freight charges, increased manufacturer's prices and the fluctuation of foreign currency contributed to the increase, the first in two years.

In Des Moines, Iowa, federal agriculture secretary Earl Butz said Monday the Soviet Union may end up purchasing more than $1 billion worth of U.S. farm products under the recently announced $750-million wheat and feed grain sale. The trade agreement involves the sale of wheat, corn, grain sorghum, barley, oats and rye by the U.S. to the Russians under a three-year credit arrangement deal.

Mount Forest, Ont., town council voted Monday night to terminate immediately the services of Richard Brett, acting police chief. Mr. Brett had earlier tendered his resignation to council effective Aug. 31. He said he had removed his wife and children to "safety" claims Priscilla Haynes, a heroin addict enrolled in a methadone maintenance program. Most of the fires were in vacant buildings.

Ottawa Still Holds View That Cannabis Is Harmful

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government came out with its long-awaited policy position on cannabis Monday, but the changes aren't as far-reaching as many expected. The government position is that marijuana and hashish—the drugs from cannabis—are harmful and their use should not be legal. However, criminal prosecution for use is to be reduced and penalties eased by moving all cannabis offences from the Narcotics Act to the Food and Drugs Act.

The changes were announced at a news conference by Health Minister John Munro, who said Criminal Code amendments, which came into effect this month, will make it easier for courts to avoid sentencing cannabis offenders and can help prevent criminal records. As well, he announced a $3-million budget increase for the directorate on non-medical drug use for more research and education.

But some observers note the changes merely bring the government position more into line with the status quo. Research studies, including those by the commission on non-medical use of drugs under Dean Gerald Le Dain last May, have shown marijuana may have some beneficial effects but that its use should be viewed with concern because of other harmful effects and little real knowledge about long-term use. In June, the 24,000-member Canadian Medical Association went on record against the use of cannabis.

And courts already had stopped sentencing first offenders accused of simple possession to jail terms. Mr. Munro told the news conference that probably only 10 persons across the country were in jail because of a first-time conviction for simple possession.

Although the policy changes involve proposals to move cannabis from the Narcotics Act to the Food and Drugs Act, the minister would give no details on these changes. They still would have to go before Parliament, if it sits again before an election.

The effect of the move from one act to another is designed "to distinguish clearly between cannabis and dangerous narcotics such as heroin," the minister said. The government will propose fines rather than sentences for simple possession of cannabis—but amounts have not been determined.

OTHER FINES STIFFER
The minister said penalties for other types of cannabis offences, such as trafficking, importing or cultivation, also would be reduced but remain stiff.

In response to questions, he indicated some consideration would be given for various penalties for trafficking, possibly based on the profit motive. The professional pusher might receive stronger penalties than one who merely bought a couple of ounces of the drug for resale to friends.

The government policy falls short of the recommendations of the majority report of the Le Dain commission. Mr. Munro acknowledged the contributions of the commission, but said concerns about the harmful effects of the drugs had outweighed any considerations that the drugs should be legal.

Is it wrong for a funeral director to enjoy life?

Through the years, the funeral director has been passed off as someone different. He never smiles or has any fun. He always speaks in hushed tones. He perennially wears a just-pressed black suit.

The truth, of course, is that we're people, just like you. We have the same human interests and habits and faults as other people. And maybe that's what makes us good funeral directors: we understand your feelings in time of loss because we feel the same way in our own time of loss.

Blanket Restriction Eased One-Way May Be The Answer

The no-parking signs along Pandosy Street are going to be removed.

But they'll be replaced by others which will restrict parking along the route to the hours between 7 p.m. and 7 a.m. seven days a week.

Council made that decision and several others pertaining to the recent Pandosy Street parking controversy Monday, after receiving a traffic report and results of a parking survey from the city's planning and engineering departments.

Details of the traffic report weren't made public, but mention was made of the possibility of making one-way streets out of Richter and Pandosy Streets.

REVELATION
Aldermen lifted the no-parking rule along Pandosy, despite some startling revelations by the survey of parking patterns, which, according to planner Donald Barcham, showed that only 60 per cent of the parking spaces provided by apartment blocks were being used at the time surveys were taken.

He said the survey was conducted in the area over a period of one week and that checks were made several times during the day and night.

The issue arose several weeks ago, after the no-parking signs had been erected, when a delegation of residents from the area appeared before council armed with a petition seeking removal of the restriction.

They claimed the signs had created particular difficulty for visitors to apartment blocks, as well as moving vans and service vehicles which could not find space at the rear. Further, the protestors claimed increased noise and dust problems had arisen, along with a safety hazard created by vehicles speeding along Pandosy.

Checks by the RCMP indicated no appreciable increase in speeding incidents, council was told.

Despite argument from several residents who appeared at Monday's meeting, aldermen stuck to their decision not to allow parking between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. every day and to implement loading zones as required. And they emphasized the move was a temporary measure pending completion of a detailed traffic study.

Wednesday's breakfast will precede the official Regatta opening at 12 noon, commemorated with a special ceremony at city park entrance at the foot of Bernard Avenue.

... Warm
The forecast for Wednesday, first day of Regatta, should please residents and tourists alike. The weatherman promises sunny skies with a few cloudy periods and continuing warm temperatures, in the low 90s. High and low in the city Monday was a pleasant 92 and 59 degrees with no precipitation, compared to a warm 91 and 54 degrees with a trace of precipitation for the same day at the airport. Overnight lows today will be 55 to 60 degrees.

WE'LL MURDER 'EM

Lifeguards Vs. Firemen In Bolster And Bar Event

The bronzed guardians of the beaches at City Park will do battle with the sturdier members of Kelowna's fire department Wednesday afternoon during the Okanagan Bolster and Bar Championships at Ogoopo Pool.

Bolster and Bar? For those who don't know, the event will be staged for the first time this year as part of the Kelowna International Regatta.

It was developed in Campbell River and has proven to be a real crowd-pleaser at the Vancouver Island community's successful Salmon Festival.

The object is simple. A log is placed across a swimming pool and the two contestants sit facing each other, armed with pillows (bolsters). They then proceed to bash each other until one falls off the log (bar) into the water.

The first to win two out of three is declared the winner, but he or she must accept challenges from anyone who wants to take him (or her) on.

There is no entry fee, virtually no rules and combatants are encouraged to wear fancy costumes.

A spokesman for the lifeguards, who issued the challenge Monday, said today, "Those guys may know how to hustle a hose around, but when it comes to real muscle, they just ain't got it."

"We figure we'll take 'em all in two straight."

The fireman don't quite look at it that way.

"Oh yeah?" was the immediate reaction from the firehall. "We'll murder 'em."

Action gets underway at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday.

Following the epic confrontation between the lifeguards and fireman, the youngsters will be able to have at each other, divided up into the 12-14 age group and 15 and over.

Thursday will be an open challenge affair, with a trophy to be awarded at the end of proceedings.

Organizers are keeping the structure of the event loose to give it maximum exposure, but next year things should be interesting as old grudges are settled and more skilled competitors gear themselves for the possibility of taking on the Campbell River champ for the Bolster and Bar Championship of the entire World.

Fruit Fly Spray Now

The district horticultural office reminds cherry orchardists post harvest clean-up sprays for the cherry fruit fly should be applied now, since split or unharvested cherries provide ideal breeding grounds for the pest.

Commercial growers are advised to use sprays as per the 1972 tree fruit production guide, and home gardeners should either spray trees or paint limbs of cherry trees with yagon or rogor, at label rates.

All cherry trees in the Central Okanagan should be treated in the stated manner. Further information is available from district horticulturist, Helmut Arndt.

Pancake Breakfast

Early-bird Regatta crowds will be taking advantage of the Kiwanis pancake breakfast, a traditional feature which is offered Wednesday to Saturday from 7 a.m. to 12 noon in the parking space beneath the Royal Trust building on Bernard Avenue.

Wednesday's breakfast will precede the official Regatta opening at 12 noon, commemorated with a special ceremony at city park entrance at the foot of Bernard Avenue.

Free Hand At Auction

Aldermen Monday passed a resolution to allow civic employees to bid on the sale of surplus city equipment at public auctions.

The move would amend a 1969 bylaw which required city employees to get council approval of a high bid, either through tenders or at an auction. Under the new rule, if city equipment is to be subject to tenders, an employee requires council approval, but if the material is to be auctioned, he may bid on it without restriction.

Liberals Will Make Issue Of Highway

Okanagan highways will be a major plank in the Liberal election platform. South Okanagan candidate, Roger Tait, says he will "make every effort to have discussion of highway problems a major point in the current provincial election."

SEEN and HEARD

Eleven of the 12 candidates for the title of 1972 Lady of the Lake lit up city council chambers Monday night as they were introduced to the aldermen and presented with gifts by Mayor Hilbert Roth. Signing the guest book were: 72 Lady of the Lake, Lindsay Ritchie; her princess, Donna Hamilton; Miss Snowmobile, Annette Glover; Miss Jaycee, Judith Allan; Miss Beta Sigma Phi, Carol Ann Prytula; Miss Rotary, Nancy Clark; Miss Canadiana Forrester, Joanne Wolfe; Miss Legion, Susan Riddell; Miss Harmonie, Birgit Moeller; Miss Teen Town, Jacqueline Muir and Miss A.C.T., Carol Zayonce. Unable to attend was Miss Kinsmen, Virginia Slobodian.

Wednesday night's regional district meeting instead of the Regatta. "Well, that's the luck of the draw when you're mayor for real, Ald. Kane," quipped Mayor Bert Roth.

Mayor Roth, along with aldermen Kane, Gwen Holland, Terry Cyr and Syd Hodge will be voting delegates at the 66th annual convention of the Union of B.C. Municipalities, slated for Vancouver next month.

Arriving in Kelowna on Wednesday via Pacific Western will be Mrs. Jean Gould, public relations officer for the Vancouver Children's Hospital. Mrs. Gould will be in Kelowna to ride the Kelowna Teen Town float in the Regatta parade which starts at 6 p.m. Wednesday. Theme of the float will be March of Dimes in keeping with one of Kelowna Teen Town's main projects.

Among the visitors to Regatta, is a man and his horse, who rode here from "Penticton, reminding us something of the determination of our forefathers some 60 years ago. More than 60,000 fun enjoying spectators are expected to crowd the Regatta grounds this year, and parking seems to be of the utmost concern to the city traffic officers and the RCMP as stated by city officer Dale Marsh.

Workers Back On The Job

The local construction scene is back in full swing today as workmen return to jobs following settlement of wage disputes which resulted in strikes and lockouts since April 28.

The last six unions of 18 originally involved in the dispute with provincial contractors were expected to resume work today. Five of the six holdout unions voted acceptance of a wage increase of 1.17 an hour over 25 months, while the sixth, plumbers, narrowly rejected the settlement but were also to return to jobs today after settlement of contract wording objections was made Sunday.

Plumbers approved the wage settlement but objected to a few minor clauses dealing with travel allowances later ironed out between union leaders and the Construction Labor Relations Association.

Union voting results in other holdout groups were: boiler-makers, 85 per cent in favor; carpenters, 84 per cent; cement masons, 88 per cent; heat and frost insulators, 82 per cent and electricians, 78 per cent.

CAR FIRE
The Kelowna Fire Department attended a car fire Monday in the 2000 block Pandosy Street at 5:25 p.m., in which a vehicle was extensively damaged. Fireman were also called to a minor ballast fire at the Crown Zellerbach sawmill, 820 Guy St.

BERNARD AVENUE BUZZING

The Kelowna Downtown Business Association has taken over part of Bernard Avenue to lend added attraction and excitement to Regatta festivities. In addition to commercial displays, the mall between Ellis and Pandosy streets on Bernard will also feature entertainment beginning today and all through the water-classic parade entries such as the Hobbema Indian Band will perform on a special portable stage, and other attractions include National Hockey League star, Gene Carr who will accommodate autograph hunters. There will also be a puke-shooting competition and many other goodies by the KDMA. The mall in the centre of the city's business district is a "new innovation" this year. — (Courier Photo).

IN COURT

Nels Nordstrom of Vancouver pleaded not guilty in provincial court to three charges concerning theft and false pretenses in connection with an alleged stock transaction with a Kelowna man. The accused is charged with obtaining $3,300 through false pretenses, unauthorized conversion of 110,000 shares of stock, and theft of 110,000 shares of stock. The case was remanded by provincial Judge R. J. S. Moir to Oct. 19 for trial.

A charge of impaired driving was dismissed against James Weddell of Rutland after Judge R. J. S. Moir ruled a "poor sample" of breath for use on the breathalyzer scale was not sufficient for a conviction in an impaired driving charge.

Barry James Hill of Kelowna pleaded guilty in provincial court to a charge of willfully destroying private property after he broke a door window at a downtown restaurant. He was given a suspended sentence and placed on probation for six months.

Otto Kustren of Rutland pleaded not guilty in provincial court to a charge of refusing to take a breathalyzer test. The case was remanded for trial to Oct. 9.

Route Unchanged

The Regatta parade route is unchanged from last year, beginning at the marshalling area at Martin Elementary School on Graham Street and along Bernard Avenue to Water Street north past city hall to the dispersal point beyond Doyle Avenue.

The mall set up between Ellis Street and Pandosy Street on Bernard will be temporarily opened to accommodate the parade which begins at 6 p.m. Wednesday as the traditional kick-off to the annual water classic. Parade participants will be positioned at the marshalling area at 5 p.m., following judging in the afternoon.

On Leaves Of Absence

It has often been said that the primary function of prison institutions is rehabilitation of the individual. One is told that an essential requirement of this rehabilitating process is the gradual building of a mutual bond of trust between convict and society. A stepping stone of this bond of trust is, supposedly, the granting of unsupervised leaves of absence to prisoners.

Some have attempted to repudiate the claims made in support of leaves to prisoners while saying nothing about the base upon which this idea stands: that prisons are, essentially, rehabilitation centres. The fact that their statements on the subject have not made credible food for thought is not surprising because, if the premise is true, then the granting of temporary unrestricted leaves is a logical progression in rehabilitation of the inmate.

But the basic task of a prison and its administration is not rehabilitation. It is to confine away from society the individuals whose motives and methods are directed against the rights of any and all individuals in that society. When a prison—or a government—grants leaves of absence to convicted lawbreakers during their term of sentence, it makes a mockery of the judicial system which put them there in the first place, and relegates every law abiding member of society to the position of a sucker.

Further, if a convict is to become rehabilitated, it will not come to him from without, but from within. A person who commits a crime against society displays a deep contempt for his fellow man and an irrational disregard for laws which protect the rights of the individual.

Only an intransigent diligence on the part of a society and its representatives toward enforcing the laws which protect its existence will serve as a deterrent against criminal acts. Only then will a criminal have no choice but to re-examine the convictions which motivate him. The bowing of justice to evil by any form of compromise to the convicted criminal will only serve to increase the contempt he holds for society.

It is therefore imperative for both the long and short range protection of society from its deviates that all leaves of absence be stopped. Altruistic motives, which have never brought anything but grief to man, cannot be permitted to begin the breakdown of law and order in this country.

New Flareup Feared

While the Western world breathes easier with the breakup of Soviet military power in Egypt, there still is an underlying feeling that the expulsion of Soviet troops from Egyptian bases may increase the danger of a new Middle East flareup.

A Canadian Press analysis notes that as long as the Russians had their finger on the Egyptian trigger, the Kremlin undoubtedly dominated Egyptian strategy. Initially, as Russia shipped more than $1 billion worth of new arms and planes into Egypt after the six-day 1967 war, the Western world feared the Kremlin was preparing the Middle East for a global showdown.

Gradually, over the years, opinion changed as the Russians themselves dropped hints to their Arab friends that they wanted no third world war. Undoubtedly the Kremlin felt it was an advantage to expand Soviet military power in the Middle East, not only to contain Israel, but to assist in the strategy of encircling the North Atlantic alliance countries.

This dominance of the Soviet military presence may at the same time, have increased the frustration of Egyptian military leaders. Badly beaten in the 1967 battle with Israel, some of them seemed anxious to attempt to balance the books and if possible, crush the Israelis.

Questions were raised whether they could hope to do this even with the sophisticated planes and rockets Russia provided. Reports circulated in the Arab world that the Russians were questioning whether the Egyptian soldiers and airmen were able to master this modern armament.

Added to indications of intensified Soviet-Egyptian military friction were reports that the military allies were not harmonizing socially and this was contributing to Egyptian frustration.

It appeared evident under such widening speculation that President Anwar Sadat, whose popularity among his countrymen was a shadow compared with the late Gamal Abdul Nasser, was facing increased military pressure to assert Egyptian sovereignty.

Whether Sadat ever hoped to get Russian offensive weapons is questionable. The reported Russian rejection of such demands may have been the excuse needed to expel the Russian military force, thereby giving the Egyptian military leaders what they want—full control over the Soviet-built arsenal.

The temptation to use these weapons may become too tantalizing to ignore. In terms of manpower the Israelis are vastly outnumbered. From a technical viewpoint, the Egyptians may find it easier to make use of their weapons now than to try to maintain them and service them over a long period.

The highest restraining factor is the risk of another defeat. Should the Israelis again destroy Egyptian armaments, it would be difficult for Cairo to go hat in hand to the Kremlin asking for still more sophisticated weapons.

More tempting for Sadat is to make wider use of a political respite. For the moment, at least, he may have satisfied his own military commanders. He now can secretly turn to the United States and argue in favor of some compensating concessions.

It may be President Nixon's turn to see what he can do. Getting the Israelis to give up some of the old Arab land may be the clincher needed to cement Sadat's home popularity.

BYGONE DAYS

10 YEARS AGO

August 1962

Members of the John Fisher family of Westbank saw the Ogopogo. They had taken off for a day's fishing, and were about to disembark at their favorite camping spot when they saw two distinct humps, dark green in color. The great churning of the water disturbed the calm of the lake some 100 yards out. The humps finally straightened out and Ogopogo sped away in the direction of Trepanier.

Battlers Against Starfish Sight A Glimmer Of Hope

LONDON (CP) — Scientists think they know the steps that must be taken to beat the plague of starfish which has been destroying coral formations around the world.

Ten years ago the late Prof. Tom Goreau first speculated about the potential for destruction of coral by the crown-of-thorns starfish. Two years later that speculation became a reality when it was discovered the starfish were eating away the Great Barrier Reef which protects the eastern side of Australia.

A group of young British scientists at Cambridge formed a research group in 1967 to investigate the phenomenon and develop control techniques. Since 1968 they have been working in the Red Sea while other scientists have been carrying on parallel work in Guam, the Australian state of Queensland and in Japan.

Counts have shown that the starfish can reach local populations measured in hundreds of thousands and can destroy almost every hard coral in square miles of reef. Damage to the middle section of the Great Barrier Reef already extends over tens of miles and is extremely serious in local areas.

Yet, in some senses the Great Barrier Reef is less vulnerable than remoter Indo-Pacific areas, where plagues of starfish are likely to pass undetected until they burst forth into more accessible regions.

The Cambridge coral starfish research group is beginning to have something to show for an expenditure of more than £40,000 and the thousands of hours that its scientists have spent underwater. Much of this has been at night, observing closely the starfish feeding behavior.

The starfish embraces the coral, attaching itself firmly by its unnumbered tube feet on its many arms, and then extrudes its stomach through its mouth over the coral to begin external digestion of living tissue in the coral polyps.

About three hours later the stomach is retracted, leaving behind a gleaming white coral skeleton. It is these patches of predation which remain the obvious evidence of the presence of starfish.

The Cambridge group found on a reef eight miles south of Port Sudan in the central Red Sea an abnormal population of about 3,000 starfish. The evidence, circumstantial but strong, pointed to pollution from anchored shipping being the agent, though the mechanism was not obvious.

ATTRACTED OTHERS

What was obvious, however, was the way the aggregated starfish remained together and preferred to eat almost on top of each other, even though there was an abundance of similar coral all around them. The only explanation seemed to be that starfish feeding on coral constitute an attraction for other starfish.

A series of experiments which confirmed this hypothesis formed the central feature of a 1971 research program funded by Britain's Overseas Development Administration and the Royal Society.

The next task will be to isolate the active constituent in this chemical attraction. The target is obviously an attractant that could be used in plague areas to cause dense aggregation of starfish into suitable locations for the starfish to be killed en masse by a small team of divers.

For a full-time research program centred on this investigation the ODA has made a further grant of nearly £29,000 to the Cambridge group.

The normal state in Indo-Pacific reef areas is a population of scattered individual starfish probably not exceeding one per 100 yards of reef front. However, when abnormal circumstances bring these individuals within a fairly short distance of one another, by chemical attraction in feeding they begin to pack closer together and to remain traced.

CAUSES TRACED

When the breeding season comes round success in fertilization is much greater than that of scattered individuals, while the nearly dead coral they have attacked will favor the successful settlement of their larvae.

Either man or natural disaster can cause the initial concentration of animals.

It may be harbor works which reduce available hard corals and oblige formerly resident starfish to move in with more fortunate neighbors, so doubling the density of the starfish population. It may be local pollution which causes similar starfish concentration in more acceptable areas. It could be the local extinction of coral by siltation or it may be the cyclonic damage of coral.

In many cases, therefore, a local increase in the crown-of-thorns population may be a valuable early warning, before any other symptom is apparent, that a state of affairs is developing.

CANADA'S STORY

B.C.'s Percy Williams Fastest On Earth

By BOB BOWMAN

Percy Williams of Vancouver was recently voted as having been Canada's greatest competitor in the history of the Olympic Games. It was Aug. 1, 1923, that Williams proved to be the world's fastest human by winning the 200 metres gold medal at the Olympic Games in Amsterdam. He had already won the 100 metres on July 30.

Two years later, at Toronto, Williams set a world record of 10.3 seconds for the 100 metres. Later in the month, unfortunately, he hurt a leg while winning the 100 metres at the British Empire Games in Hamilton, and that really ended his career as a sprinter although he competed in the 1932 Olympics at Los Angeles.

Williams' victories at Amsterdam set a standard in the sports world. He was relatively unknown as a 19-year-old graduate from a Vancouver high school. There were 87 sprinters entered in the 100 metres including Frank Wykoff of the U.S. who was the favorite.

Williams won two heats before getting into the final, and had to run his fastest time of 10.6 seconds to win the second.

In the final he was running against Wykoff, McAllister, London, Lammers of Germany, and Legg of South Africa. Williams got away like a flash and held his lead all the way, beating London to the tape by one yard. He wrote in his diary: "July 30—Well, well, well, I'm supposed to be the world's 100 M Champion (crushed applause). No more fun in running now."

However, winning the 200 metres on Aug. 1 was an even greater challenge as Charles Borah of the U.S. and Helmut Koernig of Germany had won their heats in record times.

John Fitzpatrick of Hamilton also made it to the finals with Williams.

Koernig and Williams were neck and neck to the last 50 metres when Williams "shifted gears" for a blinding, driving finish. The crowd broke into the wildest demonstration that ever followed an Olympic victory.

There were great receptions in many cities in Canada when Williams returned.

Years later, when Williams was asked how he felt when he won the Olympics, he replied: "I was simply bewildered by it all. I didn't like running. Oh, I was so glad to get out of it all."

OTHER AUG. 1 EVENTS

1639—Huron population was estimated to be 20,000. Marie de l'Incarnation founded Ursuline convent.

1835—Louis Riel was found guilty of treason.

1914—Governor-General the Duke of Connaught cabled Britain offering Canadian troops to fight in First World War.

1926—There was a stampede of elephants at Edmonton.

1930—Airship R-100 arrived at Montreal after transatlantic flight.

1932—C.C.F. party was formed.

1952—Social Credit government led by W. A. C. Bennett took office.

1957—Owen Sound, Ont., celebrated centenary.

1962—Motorcade left Newfoundland for British Columbia to celebrate completion of Trans-Canada Highway.

Ottawa Bureau of the Kelowna Courier

Parliament adjourned for its summer recess July 7. Under present circumstances and rules, there is a possibility that it may not meet again for a full six months, until early January, 1973.

Officially, it has been adjourned until Sept. 28. But the betting here is that the 28th Parliament will not again see the light of day and the general election will be called in August for a date in October, probably Oct. 23.

If this prediction is even reasonably accurate, it will mean that by the time the election writs are returned, the present or new prime minister has formed his cabinet, the cabinet has planned legislation and discussed priorities, and by the time the speech from the throne has been written, it will be early December. At this juncture, it may be reasoned that there is little point calling the members into session for a couple of weeks when the Christmas recess is so near. In that event, an early January start for Canada's 29th Parliament might make more sense—thus the lapse of six months.

The Commons could be called back in early December solely for the opening ceremonies and the speech and debate on the speech from the throne, and then recess for Christmas. This would enable the House to get down to serious business early in the new year.

There is something wrong with a system that allows even the possibility of a six-month hiatus in the business of the country when there is so much business waiting for attention. A delay of this, or even shorter, duration not only stalls legislative action but it puts some committees in an almost impossible position. The public accounts committee, for one, would find its work of examining the annual auditor general's report thrown badly off schedule.

Part of the reason for the situation lies with the arbitrary powers that are now given to the prime minister under the British North America Act, as to when general elections are to be held. The time-table is extremely flexible and every prime minister has utilized this fact to his own party's best advantage—going to the country when the prospects look the most promising.

For a number of sessions, several MPs have put private members' bills on the order paper urging an amendment to the BNA Act which would reduce or eliminate this arbitrary time-setting. They would put Canada on the same system as the United States where elections are held on specific dates every four years. In the Canadian situation, the only deviation from a pre-determined four-year term would come in the event of the defeat of the government on a want-of-confidence vote.

The problem in implementing a change of this sort—one that would make the work of Parliament more orderly and eliminate the election-date guessing game—is similar to inducing the Senate to vote itself out of existence. The party in power is naturally reluctant to vote for any measure that trims the authority of its leader to make a decision most likely to be in its favor.

Another part of the problem involves the loose time-table now in vogue for handling Commons' business. This applies particularly to the dates of adjournment for each session and the length of Christmas, Easter and summer recesses. If the government had really wanted to get its family income security and its foreign take-over legislation passed, why didn't it keep Parliament operating for a week or more longer? As far as PISP is concerned, there surely would have been one day in the following week or two when Paul Hellyer would not have been in his Commons' seat.

REGATTA VISITORS may be 'cooling off' in breezy summer togery this week, but sophistication is the key-word for the fall fashions in the men's wear departments.

On the left, is shown an Eedee award winner, a rust and green plaid jacket, and on the right is a dark bold check dressy suit, with stitched edges and side vents.

Forecast Of Fall Men's Wear Includes The Return Of The Flannel Vested Suit

By STASIA EVASUK

Fall menswear goes all sophisticated with fine detailing to suit the contemporary, conservative man.

Watch for the return of the flannel vested suit that is giving the dark bold check dressy suit a run for its money. Look for the business sport suit which exemplifies the trend to the distinctive classic yet maintains the casually relaxed look for work and travel.

A sample of menswear from the fall collection of Warren K. Cook Ltd. is illustrated today.

Three of the outfits captured awards at the Eedee Fashion Design Awards Competition sponsored by the provincial ministry of industry and tourism to encourage Ontario garment manufacturers to improve their design. The awards are for excellence in design.

A black and white herringbone coat in maxi length worn over an Eedee. This classic double-breasted coat has been modernized by having a magnum sized herringbone, but styled with a long, lean look. The half-belted back also carries an inverted pleat to the belt. Interesting detailing is seen in its wide military cuffs and flapped, jetted pockets. The edges and pockets are double-stitched.

The height of sophistication is caught in the formal tuxedo which won the best of show in the Eedee Awards. It is worsted jacquard and styled in a 3-button, single-breasted semi-peak model. Ottoman silk is used for the collar, lapels, flaps and cuffs, all bound with 1/2-inch of satin.

The back of the tuxedo is an unusual Roman look styling with two inset side vents. Buttons are satin covered. Trousers have a satin waistband and broad single satin stripes.

Another Eedee Award winner was the rust and green plaid sports jacket worn with plain co-ordinates. It is a 2-button style with broad shaped lapels and wide flaps on the jetted pockets. The back is plain with deep side vents.

In shirts, the button-downs are back in strength. A man can have his choice of cuff, double-button or French, and collar style: Spread, longer point or the new wider button-down.

White shirts reappear. And white comes to the fore as a background to patterns as well as white-on-white satin stripes and lattice weaves.

Look for an emphasis on soft color mixes, like harvest gold and melon, avocado, cherry and pink on white, plus t.e. blue tones, often blended with white.

There is a move afoot toward narrower ties but then they could scarcely get wider. It's logical considering the conservative button-down shirt resurgence and the reappearance of white shirts.

Daughter Of Kelowna Couple Wed In Winnipeg Church

Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church in Winnipeg, Man., was the scene of a double-ring ceremony when Colleen Denise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Rueb of Kelowna and Donald Robert Henzel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Henzel of Winnipeg exchanged vows in a July wedding. Rev. John Shokak officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by R. S. Makosk, approached the altar to the strains of Amazing Grace played by organist, Mrs. John Nordquist.

The bride looked radiant in her gown of Swiss lace featuring a full skirt with tiers of lace down the centre panel and a smoothly fitted bodice with darts in the front and back waistline. A satin bow accented the back of the gown and scallops and pearls trimmed the neckline. Dainty ruffles completed the fitted long sleeves. Flowers, scattered with pearls held her four-tiered waist-length veil of tulle, with silver threads interwoven in the scallops. She carried a cascade bouquet of red sweetheart roses.

The matron of honor, Mrs.

Dan Terech of Winnipeg, and bridesmaid, Cathy Rueb, sister of the bride of Kelowna; Mary Ann Henzel, cousin of the groom; Junior bridesmaid, Janet Jorgenson and flower girls, Brenda Pylypiuk and Rhonda Makloske were identified.

The groom was attended by Dan Terech as best man and ushers, Rick Stadnyk, Bruce Gehlhorn and Farrell Henzel, junior usher, all of Winnipeg.

The bride's mother wore an empire gown of aqua blue chiffon over taffeta trimmed with white Dragon lace, with corsage of yellow roses adding contrast.

The groom's mother chose a sheath gown of pastel pink crepe trimmed with pink sequins and wore a corsage of pink roses.

The reception was held at the Monterey Dance Pavilion in Winnipeg where the bride's uncle and godfather, Jack E. Letkeman proposed the toasts.

After a honeymoon trip to Disneyland the happy couple will reside in their new home in Winnipeg.

Out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. George Rueb, Kelowna; Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Makoske, Maple Ridge; Mr. and Mrs. Steve Verestuk, Hamilton, Ont.; Mrs. Rose Kachur, the groom's grandmother, also of Hamilton; John Schmidt, Kelowna and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kreichmer, Rutland.

Father Conducts Wedding Nuptials

Rev. J. E. Campbell, father of the groom, officiated at the double-ring marriage ceremony uniting Christina, Elizabeth Heilmann of Kamloops to Murray Orlan Campbell, also of Kamloops.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Heilmann of Winfield, while the groom is the son of Rev. and Mrs. J. E. Campbell of Vernon. The ceremony took place in Missionary Church, Winfield, on July 22. Large brown eyed susans, white lilies and two seven-tier candelabra decorated the altar for the 4 p.m. ceremony.

Soloist was Mrs. Virgil Stauffer of Didsbury, Alta., who sang Wedding Prayer and Together Life's Pathway We Tread. She was accompanied by Mrs. H. A. Traub of Winfield.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of rose patterned Chantilly lace, featuring a high scalloped neckline, empire waist and full bell sleeves. A full, gathered, nylon organza train swept down from the yoked back.

Her headress of white carnations and spring blossoms held a waist-length veil of nylon tulle, scattered with Chantilly lace roses. The veil was made by the bride.

She carried a bouquet of white daisies, yellow roses and bronze pom-pom mums.

TINY FLOWER GIRL

Maid of honor was Marg Lehman of Calgary. Bridesmaid was Juanita Wiens of Kamloops. Three-year-old Sherri Campbell, from Lacey, Wash., was flower girl, while Raymond Johnson, four years old from Valleyview, Alta., was ring bearer.

They were gown in floral skirts featuring summer colors of yellow, orange, pink and mauve. The tops were of orange chiffon, lined with orange polyester. The outfits featured stand-up collars and sleeves tight to the elbow and flared below the elbow.

ORANGE FLOWERS

Headresses were tiny, orange chiffon flowers arranged in their hairdos.

Best men were Ron Campbell of Lacey, Wash., and Henry Rabe of Duffield, Alta. Ushers were Ron Lehman, Valleyview, Alta.; Glen Buegoyne, Calgary; Gordon Lehman, Valleyview; and Victor Lehman of Kelowna.

For a reception at Winfield Community Hall, the bride's mother received wearing a turquoise tulle dress with white accessories and a corsage of deep pink roses.

TOPS Members Watch Film

The Wednesday night meeting of the T.O.P.S. Club at Okanagan Mission was most interesting. A television was brought by one of the members so that members could watch the film, A Matter of Fat.

There were two big losers in attendance, Mrs. Jean Pollister and Mrs. Yolande Hamilton of four pounds each. The basket of fruit was shared by the two. There will be a big surprise contest for the month of August. Meetings are held at the Mission Anglican Parish Hall every Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. New members are welcome.

FOIL KIDNAPPING

MONTEVIDEO (AP) — Police saved Ulises Pereira Reverol from being kidnapped Monday night into a third term in a Tupa mero "people's jail," where he last was kept for 14 months. Police sources said one Tupamaro guerrilla was killed and another wounded when a band apparently tried to kidnap Pereira, who heads Uruguay's state telephone company.

HITHER and YON

A Shrine cook-out was held at the residence of president, W. S. 'Buzz' Jones and Mrs. Jones, 2178 Abbott St., with 50 Shriners and their wives attending, including a few from out-of-town temples. From the most distant point were Mr. and Mrs. Glen Kelly of Phoenix, Ariz. After a social hour a smorgasbord followed and entertainment wound up the enjoyable evening.

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Clare and daughters Kelly and Patricia of New Westminster, spent a week-long holiday at the Beacon Beach motel and during their stay were guests with Mrs. Flo Simons, Pandosy Street.

Regatta guests with Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hilborn of Water Street are Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Rourke of Vancouver, Mr. Rourke, public relations director with B.C. Tel is popularly known as Captain Vancouver and will ride on the Jaycee float with the 19 Lady of the Lake candidates in the Regatta parade, Wednesday night.

Among many delightful garden parties hosted by Valley couples was a 5 to 7 p.m. gathering hosted by Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Bennett of Bennett Road, McKinley Landing. Among the guests which included the Hon. Pat Jordan and her husband, Dr. L. T. Gordon of Vernon, were directors of the Central Okanagan Regional District board and their spouses; members of the advisory committees to the regional district directors and their spouses. Frank Leeder, who is being posted to a new position with the Hiram Walker Company, was also among the guests. Everyone enjoyed the perfect evening and the wonderful view of the lake.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Marty of Abbott Street are back from a nine-day camper holiday. During their travels they visited Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lince of Selah, Wash. Mr. Lince met Mr. Marty last year when he visited the Father Pandosy Mission here, as part of his research on the history of the Oblate Mission in the Yakima Valley. Mr. Marty is involved in the restoration of the Pandosy Mission here. The Lincses took their Kelowna guests to the St. Joseph Mission in the Ahtenum Valley which was built by the Fathers Chirose, Ricard, Blanchet and Pandosy in 1847; burned in 1855 by the American troops and rebuilt by Father St. Onge in 1867. A memorial plaque on the highway opposite the site was erected by the Yakima Pioneers' Association July 1, 1922. The common interest of the two men made the visit most interesting and enjoyable. The Martys returned via the Moxve Valley and on to Spokane and Chewelah where they visited with the 83-year-old Father Jansen, an old timer of the Kelowna area, having served the Rutland and Winfield parishes. Wending their way homeward they also visited at Christine Lake, Greenwood and at Midway visited with other old friends.

Recent visitors in the Okanagan Mission were Mr. and Mrs. Clive Paul and family, Kevin, Shannon and Gordon of Nelson, B.C.

BUNYAN-BURTCH

Wed In English Church Honeymoon Trip Here

Honeymooners in Kelowna were Mr. and Mrs. Peter Ralph John Bunyan of 24 Riseldene Road, Honour Oak Park, London S.E. 32 with the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Henry Burch of Kelowna. The groom, a dental student at King's College Hospital, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Jesse Bunyan, 116 Berton Road, Aylsbery, Bucks, England. The bride, Jocelyn Cynthia Burch is a student nurse at the same hospital.

Rev. Vladimir Broeder conducted the midday ceremony in St. Anne's Church at Wendover, Buckinghamshire, Eng., which was decorated with apricot roses, marguerites and fern, and white tapers. Mrs. Ann Holt was organist and played Morning Has Broken with additional music throughout sung by St. Anne's church choir.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Richard Bart Webster of Mansfield Notts, England, the bride chose a champagne satin gown with short puffed sleeves and a wide sash which fell to the ground. A pillbox headdress in champagne beige flowers set with pearls held a short veil of champagne net. She carried a spray of apricot and cream roses with trailing fern.

'Somethink old' was her great-grandmother's bracelet; 'borrowed' was a locket from her aunt, Mrs. Richard Webster; a new hankie and a blue ribbon bow. For extra luck she wore a sixpence in her shoe.

FLAT MATES

Maid of honor, Valerie Hull and bridesmaids, Ursula Hourican and Maureen Barnes are all students of King's College hospital. Valerie is from Trinidad; Ursula from Ireland and Maureen from Canada. They wore yellow chiffon gowns with smocked bodices and long transparent sleeves. They carried yellow roses and marguerites arranged by a friend of the groom's, Mrs. Lola Akister, and yellow flowers enhanced their hairdos.

Best man was the groom's brother, Philip Bunyan, and ushers were James Fields and another brother of the groom, Robert Bunyan, all from Aylsbery, Bucks, England.

The bride's aunt, Muriel Webster, received the guests at the reception which followed at the Duck's Inn, Aylsbery, wearing a navy and white dress with white accessories. A mauve orchid corsage completed her ensemble. The groom's mother chose a beige coat-dress ensemble with champagne accessories, accented with a pink orchid corsage.

Richard Webster, uncle of the bride, proposed the toast to the bride and Phil Bunyan, toasted the attendants.

Yellow roses and marguerites circled the three-tiered square cake looped with white satin ribbon which centred the white damask covered table.

EXTENDED TRIP

For her honeymoon trip which included a visit home in Kelowna, as well as other points in Canada and San Francisco, the bride donned a white dress with red blazer, accessorized with red shoes and bag.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Bob Flynn, Beaconsville, England; Mrs. Corrie Walk, Demer, Holland; Mrs. Ann Boerboom, Revenstein, Holland; Gerdie Walk and friend of Bepie, Holland; Mrs. Veronica McDonald, Vancouver, B.C.; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Webster and family, Mansfield, England and the rest of the guests were from London and Aylsbery.

ANN LANDERS

Mudd Clubs Are On Right Track

Dear Ann Landers: Recently you said some nice things about the younger generation—how committed they are, and how concerned. You even used the phrase "better educated than we were at their age." And then you said something about their "idealism and dedication to good causes." I'd like your opinion on the current crusade to "Free Dr. Mudd."

Dr. Mudd is the country physician who, 107 years ago, was sentenced to life imprisonment for setting the broken leg of John Wilkes Booth, the man who shot Abraham Lincoln.

It seems Dr. Mudd's grandson who lives in Saginaw, Mich., has spent countless hours and thousands of dollars to get his grandfather's reputation cleared up. This "crusade" has been supported by several state and county medical groups but now he wants the president of the United States to sign a statement expunging the blot on the Mudd family name. Kids all over the country have taken up this "cause." Bumper stickers are popping up everywhere. There are "Mudd Clubs" on several campuses and mock trials are being held as practice training for street law.

Wouldn't you think this younger generation, of which you seem to have such a high opinion, could do something better with their time?—Establishment Square

Dear Square: My researchers have delved into this fascinating story and it seems there are 280 descendants of the good country doctor who are unhappy about the way their notorious ancestor was treated. Although he was pardoned by President Andrew Johnson four years after his imprisonment, he was never actually exonerated. It is a matter of record that John Wilkes Booth gave a phony name and wore a false beard and when Dr. Mudd treated the man he had no idea his patient was on the lam.

The following day when news of President Lincoln's assassination became known, Dr. Mudd notified the authorities that he had set a man's leg, and that the man may well have been the person they were looking for. Since all this has been carefully documented it seems grossly unfair that no official exoneration has been made. Dr. Mudd's name is still mud. I say it's high time they gave the innocent victim complete vindication. So fight on, kids!

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I just came home from seeing a movie which was extremely well done, very moving, marvelous acting, but full of violence and bloodshed. It left me deeply shaken.

I was disturbed by the reaction of the audience more than I was by the movie. A great many people laughed out loud during the scenes of violence and death. They also laughed during the sad parts. Why? I can't figure it out. Can you?—Baffled In Binghamton

Dear Bing: Immature people who are unsure of how to react, often laugh. They can't handle deep emotion in the presence of others, so they depreciate their feelings by laughing.

In these situations it is not uncommon to witness laughter—even at funerals. Comedy and tragedy are often divided by a fine line.

BASE ABANDONED

Western Canada Party Folds

EDMONTON (CP) — The Western Canada party, formed 1½ years ago to give the west a loud voice in federal politics, has folded "in its present form," former leader Lloyd Bartlett said Monday night.

Mr. Bartlett, from Edmonton, and Robert Stevenson of Wilkie, Sask., who had been executive vice-president, formally announced their resignations from the executive and the party.

Mr. Bartlett said this leaves the party without any executive or base in Alberta or Saskatchewan.

Both Mr. Bartlett and Mr. Stevenson had earlier been dismissed from the executive by its president, Doug Ligertwood of Winnipeg.

Both men said, however, that Mr. Ligertwood had not even been a bona fide member of the party.

Mr. Bartlett said it was impossible for him to work within the party in its present form because the constitution, which he had never approved, gives the president absolute power to appoint and fire and does not allow for removal of the president.

"I don't want to belong to a party that overlooks the democratic procedure of voting, especially on the federal level," he said in an interview.

Mr. Bartlett also said he was resigning as party candidate in Edmonton West for the next federal election.

"We just couldn't break the hold on the party from Winnipeg," he said. "The rest of the West had no say."

Mr. Bartlett said he still supports the party's basic aims and would support a new "democratically-organized group" headed in the same direction.

"But this is the end of the party in its present form."

It has never been made public how many persons were members of the Western Canada party, founded in January, 1971, with the main objective of obtaining more autonomy for western Canadians.

Among its stated objectives:

—To hold a majority of Western Canada seats in the House of Commons.

—To gain government policies they believed would be better suited to western Canadian needs, such as removal of "discriminatory freight rates."

—Tight control of immigration during high unemployment.

Another aim was the use of English as the official language of Western Canada.

UPHOLD SHAW RULING
NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals affirmed Monday a lower court decision which blocked the perjury trial of New Orleans businessman Clay Shaw, accused of lying in the 1969 investigation of the assassination of President Kennedy.

District Attorney Jim Garrison had lodged the perjury charges against Shaw two days after Shaw and others were acquitted of conspiracy to kill the president.

May Press For Law Changes And More Police Protection

RUTLAND (Staff) — With a provincial election coming up, pressure may be put on the government to change laws concerning youthful offenders, and get more police protection here.

This was stated Monday by M. W. Marshall, chairman of the trustees of Rutland Fire Protection District, and Clarence Mallach, president of Rutland Park Society. Their comments were made because of vandalism in the Centennial Park.

Recently a resident noticed boys breaking a light in the park early one morning and phoned police. By the time an officer arrived, the boys had left.

Nip And Tuck Rutland Water

RUTLAND (Staff) — Hot weather has caused a considerable drain on water supplies here.

"It's been nip and tuck," said John Ivens, manager of Rutland Waterworks District. "We've been sandbagging Mission Creek south of Worm Road to get more water into our settling basin."

The well completed earlier at White and Cactus roads is not in service yet. A chlorinator purchased for it had to be used at the well behind the district office on Highway 30 when the chlorinator broke down. It was expected to be fixed this week.

The district gets most of its water from Mission Creek, but hopes to replace that with wells here. The one behind the office was the first to be put in service.

Frank Kanester, manager of Black Mountain Irrigation District, reported no problems.

Steve Prieger Mass Wednesday

Regular mass will be held in the Church of the Immaculate Conception Wednesday at 10 a.m. for Steve Prieger, 69, of 170 Molner Rd., Rutland, who died Sunday.

Mr. Prieger has been a resident of the district for five years.

Surviving him are one daughter, Mrs. Charles (Mary Elizabeth) Simpson, Quincy, Wash.; two grandsons; one granddaughter; one brother, John, Vancouver; and two sisters in Hungary.

Rev. R. D. Anderson will officiate with interment to follow in Kelowna cemetery. Soloist will be Ernest Burnett.

Friends wishing to remember Mr. Prieger may donate to the Cancer Fund.

INCORPORATION MEETING SOON

RUTLAND (Staff) — A meeting of the incorporation study committee may be held sometime this month, it was stated Monday. Consisting of members of the executive of Rutland Chamber of Commerce and others, the group was set up to study the pros and cons of incorporating this community.

Two sub-committees were appointed earlier. Chairman secretary Mrs. Birt Showler said a meeting will be held if enough material is gathered.

A new brochure will be prepared about the Rutland area. The present brochure was printed last year. There are few copies left, and some of the information is outdated. Alex Jurassovich was named head of a committee to prepare material for a new one.

The next executive meeting will probably be Sept. 11. General meetings will not resume until Sept. 25.

Building Sites Spring To Life

VANCOUVER (CP) — The stillness which has hung over most major British Columbia construction sites for the past three months was shattered early Monday.

Building sites which had been paralysed since the start of the industry-wide shutdown April 28, burst into life again today with the return to work of all 300,000 construction workers.

Resumption of work followed five of the six holdout unions voting to accept a 25-month contract providing an increase of $1.17 an hour and fringe benefits.

The sixth union—the plumbers—voted to reject the proposed settlement with Construction Labor Relations Association, which bargains for construction firms.

PLUMBERS OK PACT

But union officials met late Sunday with CLRA negotiators and straightened out some reportedly ambiguous wording in the proposed contract which had caused the rejection vote.

Plumbers were then able to join the rest of the six holdout unions in returning to work this morning.

At Dominion Construction, approximately 90 per cent of the men returned to work today. A few were missing because of illness or because they had left the province to seek jobs elsewhere during the three-month strike.

"Everything is falling into place and everybody is very happy to be back at work at last," a spokesman said.

Lloyd Blain, managing director of Dawson Construction Ltd., reported a similar return to work at his company. He added, however, that his company has lost 25 per cent of their year's business, a loss he says will be impossible to recoup.

"I think the courts have taken a reasonably lenient view on first offenders, and perhaps this is rightly so, but on the other hand I don't think that the amendments to the Criminal Code which permit discharge to first offenders would be to the interest of Canadian citizens as far as drug abuse is concerned."

MORE GO PRIVATE
The number of students attending privately-operated British schools has risen 46 per cent during the last quarter century.

MANAGING A SMILE

Eight-year-old Robert Kelly is smiling once again as he recovers from an experience he thought happened only in Walt Disney Movies. Robert was playing with his brother near the Vancouver Island community of Campbell River, when a cougar who had lost its fear of humans, attacked them. While his brother ran for help Robert was left to face the cougar. He was badly mauled but appears now to be on the mend after being taken to a West Vancouver Hospital. Robert will at least have a fantastic true story to tell.

RECORD SUBSCRIPTIONS
TORONTO (CP) — The Canadian Opera Company has sold 10,594 subscriptions for its 1972 Toronto season from Sept. 15 to Oct. 14. This represented a dollar value of $308,005, a substantial increase over last year's record-breaking figure of $324,898.

Burned Out Family Gets Many Clothes

RUTLAND (Staff) — Residents have responded generously to an appeal for clothes and furniture for a burned-out family.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Hudecz and their four children lost all but what they had on in a fire that destroyed their little home at 8 Buckland Road early Thursday morning.

Monday morning Mrs. Hudecz said they had enough clothes. The family are living with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Neiser, 1485 Moody Rd., until their new home in the airport subdivision is ready, expected in about two weeks.

The blaze is believed to have started on the front porch. One child got up because it was too hot, and noticed the flames. When the fire department came about 10 minutes later, it was too late to save anything. The couple had no insurance.

HOSPITAL ROBBED

LA PLATA, Argentina (AP) — Five robbers, who identified themselves as members of a pro-Peronist guerrilla group, held up the Italian Hospital Monday and escaped with the peso equivalent of $30,000.

GRIM FUTURE
A Japanese government report says Tokyo will become a city without greenery in 5 years if atmospheric pollution continues at its current rate.

Announce New Healing Substance Shrinks Piles

Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids and repair damaged tissue.

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured inflamed tissue.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most important of all—results were so thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months.

This was accomplished with new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue.

Now Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form call Preparation H. Ask for it at all drug stores. Satisfaction or your money refunded.

Sabotage Suspected

LANG, Sask. (CP) — Sabotage is suspected in the derailment of a Canadian Pacific Railway freight train early Sunday near this south-central Saskatchewan community.

Seventeen cars and the four diesel locomotives were derailed in the crash and police believe the accident occurred when the train clipped a bulldozer which may have been partly on the railway tracks.

Two trainmen in the lead locomotive were injured but were reported recovering after treatment in a hospital at Weyburn, 30 miles away.

Police said they had reports that two bulldozers left by construction crews had been moved since Saturday, one of them so that it faced east, away from the train.

The other, about a mile further down the tracks, was found across the highway from where it had been left but it had stopped when its blade became buried in the soil.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Can Unborn Child Suffer Hiccups?

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it possible for a child to be born with hiccups? A friend claims that, when she was carrying her first child, she felt it move and it seemed as though the baby was having hiccups.

When the baby was born the doctor was surprised that the baby was crying. As a rule, as you know, the baby does not cry until the doctor spans it.—X.

Your friend may have been right, because infants can have hiccups immediately after birth, and it is known to happen in the uterus before birth.

I can't agree, however, that a baby doesn't cry until spanked. Many of them start breathing normally without any help. That's the purpose of a spank—to give a mild shock that starts the baby breathing. Probably many doctors give that mild spank routinely, but in fact it isn't always necessary. Still, no harm done, either.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I was told by my family doctor that I have a prostate condition, and he suggested that I consult a urologist. Before I do, I would like to learn more about this condition. Is there any treatment except surgery? I have no pain, but urine pressure is lower at times.—R.L.J.

My first answer to you is to suggest that you do as your doctor said and see a urologist. If the problem is mild now, why not get it treated while it remains mild?

Yes, there are treatments other than surgery, but the treatment is dictated by the exact type and degree of the trouble.

Prostate trouble to one degree or another is very common in men past middle age and isn't necessarily something to fret about unduly.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am two months pregnant. I am on a low sodium diet and I am 30 pounds overweight.

Is there any way I can lose weight and still maintain a balanced nutritional diet and give birth to a normal baby?—L.S.

Your baby needs the same basic diet that you do—vitamins, calcium, iron, and, of course, protein.

For you to get this, there is no need to overeat, but no need to starve yourself, either.

You probably recall the old saying that "now you are eating for two." But remember, the second party is a pretty tiny one and doesn't require that you eat twice as much as normal to support it.

Anyway, if you've put on any sizeable portion of that 30 pounds during your pregnancy, you should be concerned, which your doctor apparently is because that's why you're on that low sodium diet right now.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is there any way other than x-ray to determine lung cancer? I have raised phlegm for a long time.

and am inclined to cough when I lie on my back.—C.J.H.

Other ways to detect lung cancer are by Pap smear of sputum or direct observation by bronchoscopic examination. Suggestive symptoms (besides chronic cough) are blood-tinged sputum, chest pain, shortness of breath.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What causes the palms of the hands and fingers to have a red appearance and white irregular blotches?—C.B.R.

Red palms may result from a peculiarity of circulation in the extremities. Also seen with cirrhosis of the liver, and with certain chronic infections. Not necessarily a dangerous sign—but it can be at times. So a thorough physical examination is in order.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband has just had abdominal x-rays. No malignancy but a diverticulosis condition exists. Should he be put on a diet of no roughage? Where can I get information on this condition?—Mrs. H. A.

He should avoid foods with seeds or indigestible husks, but should not avoid roughage entirely. He needs some bulk in his diet.

Dear Doctor: "May I have your advice on vitamin pills—not the kind prescribed by a doctor for a specific deficiency, but the kind sold over the counter?"—Mrs. L.W.

A vitamin is a vitamin is a vitamin, and it doesn't matter whether they're in a bottle or in the food you eat, whether prescribed or not.

I have no objection to those sold over the counter.

My only question is whether or not you need them. Your doctor can tell you this. A normal diet supplies all we need in the way of vitamins. If you have a poor diet, you need supplemental vitamins.

It's that simple.

Dear Doctor: I have hyperlipemia. What in the world is that?

How serious is it? It's curable. I have a terrible diet, medication. Will you please tell me something so I won't be worried?—Mrs. R. D.

You have too much blood fat and your doctor has put you on a low-fat diet to bring it down.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My wife recently had an IUD inserted, and to have this done, she told the doctor that she has had a baby which she has had a possibility of complications.—A. B.

There is no connection between her having had a baby or not having had a baby and the insertion of the intrauterine device.

And why, for heavens sake, did she tell the doctor she had one?

Opening lead—nine of clubs.

Some problems that occur during the play can be solved with absolute confidence in the outcome. But there are others where you simply aren't sure of your ground and the best you can do is to take the course of action that is more likely to be right than wrong. Here is such a case.

Presume you're East, defending against four spades, and partner leads the nine of clubs.

Dummy plays the king, but, if you're a thoughtful player, you don't automatically win with the ace.

Instead, you take a modicum of time to survey the hand as a whole, and, more particularly, your play at this point. You don't want to be stampeded into taking the ace and then start to think the hand over, for that would be doing things in exactly the wrong order.

First, you try to judge the significance of the club lead. You know the nine is not a fourth best lead, nor can it be the top card of a sequence, since the eight is in your hand. It could be the top of a worthless three-card suit, but it is far more likely to represent a singleton or a doubleton.

If the nine is a singleton, it is obviously right to take the ace and return the suit. But if it is a doubleton, the proper defense must be to let dummy win the trick with the king, at the same time signaling with the eight to show the ace.

There is no good reason to assume that declarer has five clubs rather than four; on the contrary, he is far more likely to have only four clubs. You therefore permit dummy to win the trick with the king, and sooner or later partner gets a club ruff to put the hand down one.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

Wednesday, Aug. 2

Aries (March 21-April 19): Abide with the certainty of matters you have checked out for yourself. Recent promises, speculation run into cross-currents and are tested.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): It may take several times, but you can win with reasonable explanations, sticking to the point. All things mechanical and electrical need careful use.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Popping in on people who don't expect you is the last thing to do. You may find some project hasn't been well planned.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Re-tolerant, your plans meet resistance. Material progress is sometimes an indicator for lack of ways of measuring factors.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Make good on your responsibilities. Working conditions are subject to temporary changes. Differences arising now tend to be lasting.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): There's little to be gained by explaining the past, reward for a good image. It is unlikely that you can find what you want. Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Invitations deserve a prompt response. Your opinion may change with surprising new information. Take care of your appearances.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): You have a greater range of choice than most people. Make adjustments around their limitations and proceed at full energy.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Nothing comes simply for you. Doing a few selected projects well. Originality is possible.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Depend on your own resources for furthering creative programs, paying little attention to opinions of other people.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): You can't always have every detail settled your way. Adjustments are likely. See what you can do to avoid tension.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Take time for reflection in the midst of today's chores. Travel tends to delays and confusion. Home life includes endless discussions.

LAKEVIEW FIRE HALL NOW OPEN

Twentieth Anniversary For Lakeview Fire Dept.

The Westside district of Lakeview Heights fire protection district is now twenty years old. When the district started as a VLA project in 1951 there was no fire protection, but it was in late 1952 that the service was planned by Fred Waterman, Felix Menu and Bert Seguss. On Oct. 19th, 1952, the group was formalized with John St. Davis as their first chief. Their first fire truck was ready for service on Feb. 16th, 1953, and early in 1955 the original hall was built by volunteer help with Matt Hicks in charge of the work crew.

The first recorded fire to attend was in a trailer on May 8th, 1958, and 7 volunteer firemen attended. For about two years there was a lack of interest and no fire protection was available. Fortunately, there were no major fires during the last period. In 1960, Bert Seguss was asked to revive the force, and did so with the aid of C. Buzzell, J. Fenton, C. Menu, H. McCarty, F. Milligan, C. Johnson and C. Beluzzi. Since then the membership has changed a great deal, but these original seven men deserve the full credit for the successful growth of the fire department.

Every Monday is drill night, the year round. The department reports on a quarterly basis to the trustees, and also give an annual fire report to keep them informed.

During 1971 a new fire hall was built with two bays in order to accommodate the old fire truck, as well as the new one. This new one arrived on June 21st, 1972, and was put to use on June 29th the same year to attend a call. With these two trucks, the crew now has approximately 1,300 gallons a minute of pumping capacity to utilize when needed. There are over 2,000 feet of large hose available as well as many feet of smaller hose. Each vehicle is, of course, loaded with many other needed pieces of equipment as well, and seem to literally bulge with them.

Calls for help come in on 15 different phones which continue to ring until answered or all hung up. The present personnel have worked hard to help finance the department, and have a healthy bank account. They have added furniture, refrigerator, recreation equipment, and distinctive jackets and crests to their supplies. Social evenings are held frequently, and two dances are catered to each year. Present personnel is headed by the Chief, A. Seguss, and assisted by Deputy Chief, W. Hewlett, and Captains, C. Betuzzi and W. Schmidt. Other volunteers are: F. Milligan, A. Byland, R. Kienas, J. Bauer, A. Schleppe, V. Lock, W. Brege, D. Gossco, R. Ronceray, D. Downie, A. MacLeod, S. Bjornson, W. Shelloff and E. Choro.

Sailing Races Headline Westbank Mini-Regatta

Westbank Yacht Club's Annual Regatta was held on July 29th, and while the attendance left something to be desired, there were still many interested people present. The long distance sailing race starting from the Grass Shack was quite successful, even though the breeze was quite light at the start. It did however, pick up, and the winners time was 1:59.23, just under the two hour mark.

Brian McCrimmon was the captain of the lightning craft which swept over the finish line first in all events. In the long distance the winner was B. McCrimmon with the runner-up Bill Jones who sailed an enterprise. In the first short distance race it was also B. McCrimmon at the lead spot with runner-up Tony Wilson in his fireball. The second short race was won by a time correction by John Smart who sailed a Laser, and B. McCrimmon who was over the line first was declared as runner-up.

In the canoe races for 14 years and under, the girls winner was Vanda Ruffi with Stacey Ruffi as second spot. The boys winner in this class was Kyle Kendall, and Brad Beagle placed second. In other doubles Brad Beagle and Andy Anderson teamed up to beat out Kyle Kendall and Richard Douillard who placed second. Over 14 years boys winner was Robert Colbert with Andy Dickson coming a close second. In the doubles over 14, Dave Robertson and Ron Douillard won against the second team of Terry Saunby and Kim Kendall, in the boys event, while Debbie Douillard and Dave Robertson won the mixed doubles with Aven Wakefield and Terry Saunby as the runners-up. In the open canoe event, Aven Wakefield and Leo Douillard came in ahead of Tim Charman and Mike Saunby to win this one.

In the jousting competition Stacey Ruffi beat out Vanda Ruffi who placed second in the girls under ten years. There were no entries for the boys under ten in this event. In 14 years and under for girls, Heather Saunby won over Rosie Mussell who placed second, and her sister Maureen Mussell came in third. In the Boys Jousting over 14 years, the three winners were Robert Colbert, Michael Saunby and Dave Robertson, while Doug Charman, Tim Charman and A. Dickson had to be satisfied with second places.

There were no apple box races, as the boxes had been placed out the night before in preparation and someone who is very unkind, made off with them before the events took place. Perhaps when that unkind individual realizes how much this detracts from the fun they will repent and not do it again.

All this was followed by food and refreshments at the nicely located and decorated clubhouse.

MUSEUM NOTES

Early Railroad Construction A Fascinating History Story

By PRIMROSE UPTON The R. E. Gosnell Year Book for British Columbia, 1897, produces some interesting reading. Some of the comments and facts and figures on building of railway lines, and proposed building, cause one to blink and take a second look.

"The greater portion of the main line of the CPR was built by the Dominion Government and subsequently transferred to the CPR syndicate. Total length in British Columbia 502 miles. The Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway, Vancouver Island, received $750,000 in cash as a bonus from the Dominion and 1,900,000 acres from the province, the lands to be free of taxation forever and the land exempt for ten years."

"The Columbia and Kootenay, Kaslo and Slocan, Nelson and Sheppard, and Columbia and Western — all in operation — were granted 10,240 acres per mile by the Provincial Legislature and received $3,200 per mile from the Dominion Government. For the particulars respecting the aid to the Nakusp and Slocan, Shuswap and Okanagan, and Victoria and Sidney see separate table on Loans and Railways. They also received the Dominion bonus of $3,200 a mile."

There are paragraphs on the New Westminster Southern — later the Great Northern, the Canada Western, better known as the British Pacific, for a line not yet undertaken.

"During the last session of parliament under the provisions of the 'Loan (B.C. Public Works) Act' authority was obtained by the government to assist lines of railway (a) from Penticton to Boundary Creek — 100 miles, (b) from Bute Inlet to Quesset — 230 miles (c) from English Bluff near Point Roberts via Chilliwack to Penticton — 230 miles; to the extent of 5,200 acres per mile were also granted to lines of railway in Cassiar district."

Coming home again we see that "under the charter of the B.C. Southern Railway Company, the control of which has been secured by the CPR, construction is now proceeding from Lethbridge via the Crow's Nest Pass into Kootenay. The former company obtained a land subsidy of 10,240 acres applicable to sections of the Act extending aid for a distance of 173 miles from the eastern boundary of the province westward through southern Kootenay — Ottawa granted $10,000 per mile. The work of construction is proceeding rapidly."

OYAMA SOCIALS

OYAMA (Special) — Valerie Thompson is spending her summer holidays with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Whipple.

Club Discusses Gymkhana 1972

PEACHLAND (Special) — Reports of past activities and discussion on the Peachland Riding Club's 2nd Annual Horse Show and Gymkhana to be held Aug. 20 were all on the agenda at the monthly meeting of the club held this week at the riding club grounds. This meeting was held at the grounds so the riders taking part in the big show could practice grand entry exercises. Members could see the work now being done on the club grounds. Miss M. J. Smith now has entry forms for participation in the gala show, the meeting was informed, and arrangements have been made for a TV special to be filmed at the grounds publicizing the show. A report was given on the trail ride held earlier this month which was regrettably rained out, and of the last play day held at the grounds, more of these play days are being arranged for after the big show.

Mills Closed On Coast

VANCOUVER (CP) — Problems continued in British Columbia's troubled coast forest industry Monday. Log shortages closed down two operations and other mills drew closer to the end of their log supply.

Pickets closed Crown Zellerbach's plywood plant and lumber mill which employ 1,000 men at Fraser Mills in nearby Coquitlam and McKenzie Logging in Lake Cowichan on Vancouver Island.

Meanwhile, the log shortage created by the absence of fallers in the woods since mid-April has curtailed production at other mills, including MacMillan Bloedel's Port Alberni sawmill, where 400 men have been laid off and 475 more layoffs are expected this week.

Most of the 900 fallers on the coast have refused to accept the June contract signed by their union, the International Woodworkers of America, and coast forest companies. The new contract would give them a daily rate of $80.52, but the fallers want a standard piece rate formula.

RECEIVE GRANTS MONTREAL (CP) — Eight Indonesian graduate students will attend the Institute of Islamic Studies at McGill University this fall. The institute, founded in 1952 through grants from the Ford and Rockefeller foundations, enrolls 50 students a year for studies relating the Moslem heritage to the modern world. The Indonesian students have received grants from the Canadian International Development Agency and the Hazen Foundation of New Haven, Conn.
